This architectural drawing shows a section of a building facade. It features a grid of windows, with some windows having decorative elements like flower boxes or small balconies. The drawing is a black and white line art illustration.

This architectural drawing shows a detailed elevation of a building facade. It features a series of windows and doors, some with decorative elements like shutters or small balconies. Numbered circles (1-12) are placed throughout the drawing to identify specific architectural features, such as window frames, door handles, and decorative moldings. The drawing is oriented vertically, with the top of the building at the bottom of the page.
